until there is a cure...

this is a tough fight. it will often tire us, and we will be tested. cancer is relentless.

this year our grandmother passed away. she fought breast cancer for 7 years. she will always be a survivor in our hearts and minds.

shortly after our grandmother died, our mother told us that at her 2 year check-up they found a new growth. so with hope and determination, our family marched with our mother into the hospital, and we all waited for the results. we were thrilled to learn she is still free of breast cancer.

cancer has left its mark on our family, and we doubt it is finished. both our loss and our mother's good news reminds us how relentless the fight to find a cure for cancer must continue to be.

we believe a cure for cancer can be found. that is why, on november 5th & 6th, we will donate 10% of all of our sales and every dollar raised in our Wings of Hope raffle to the Susan Henke Miller Breast Cancer Research Fund that directly supports local efforts to find a cure for cancer.

until there's a cure...
